

MUNIBUNG CREEK REHABILITATION

WORK TO REHABILITATE THE SOUTHERN SECTION OF MUNIBUNG CREEK IS STARTING SOON.

We're excited to share that work to rehabilitate the southern section of Munibung Creek – between Pendlebury Road and 75 Lachlan Road, Cardiff – will start in the coming months.

We've engaged an expert state government agency, Soil Conservation Services, to complete the work on our behalf.

The rehabilitation of the southern section of the creek will be a naturalised design, which was the approach unanimously supported by the community during consultation.

We're focusing on stabilising the sections of the creek that will reap the greatest benefits as soon as possible.

Rehabilitating the southern section of Munibung Creek will:

- ✓ prevent further erosion
- ✓ improve the natural environment
- ✓ reduce build-up of rubbish and weeds
- ✓ protect adjoining properties.

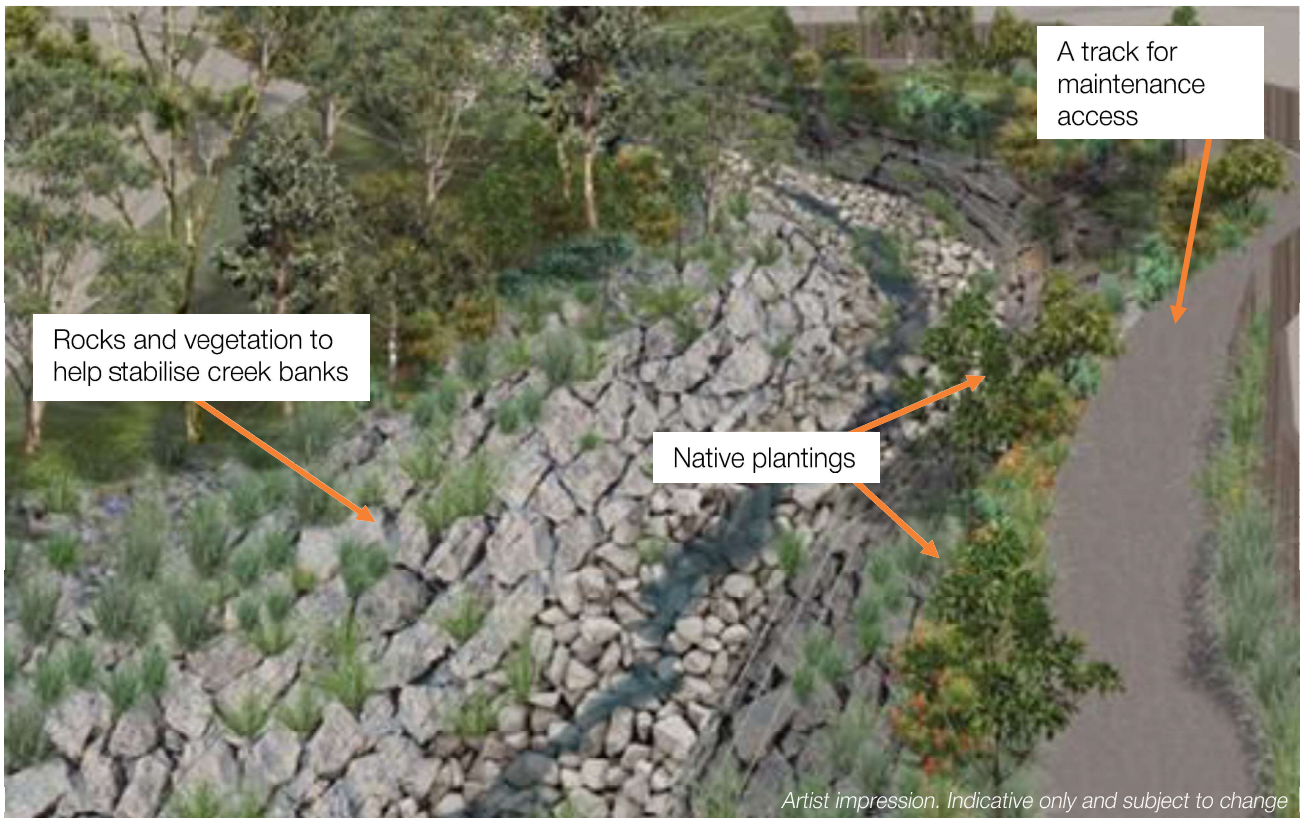

While the work will stabilise the creek banks, it will not increase the capacity of the creek or impact on flooding.

When will work begin?

Construction on the southern section of the creek is anticipated to start from later in 2024. We'll be in touch with an expected start date once confirmed.

How long will the work take?

We expect the work will be finished by mid-2025, assuming the weather is fine and there are no major issues.

What can I expect during construction?

At times we will use machinery that generate dust and noise, and some of our construction activity may generate vibration. We will make every effort to minimise these impacts.

Additionally, there will be a site compound located on the parcel of land between 87 and 89 Lachlan Road.

We aim to minimise inconvenience and will ensure you are informed of planned works before they start.

Will you need to access my backyard?

We will need access to some private properties to complete the work.

If we need to access your property, you will hear from a member of our Property Team in the coming weeks to discuss the Construction Licence with you and to outline what we are planning.

If we need to access through your property at any time we will be in touch with you in advance.

Will you need to acquire any land?

Partial acquisition of a small number of private properties will likely be required for this work. Initial discussions with these landowners took place in 2019-2020. Our Property Team will be in touch with affected landowners to discuss the process.

When will the northern section be rehabilitated?

While we intended to rehabilitate the full length of the creek between Pendlebury Road and Gorleston Terrace, this is no longer financially feasible. To complete the design in its entirety will cost more than originally anticipated and will stretch beyond the funding available for this project.

Once work on the southern section is finished, we will explore funding options to rehabilitate the northern section of the creek – from 73 Lachlan Road to Gorleston Terrace.
